The 36-credit Appropriate Master's Degree in Elementary Education/Early Childhood prepares early childhood and elementary level educators who possess an Initial License in the field with a program of study that prepares them for Professional Licensure in Massachusetts. The Master's combines the study of advanced level subject matter and pedagogy in mathematics, science, civics, and English, with an in-depth examination of research methods, policy analysis, leadership, the social history of American education, and the foundations of student aspirations. This Master's also provides educators with the opportunity to examine 21st century trends in American education which will impact their students, schools, and professional lives.
